DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

I. Claims 1-54, drawn to a method in a computing environment, a computer system, and computer readable medium to document mutations, classified in class 702, subclass 19.

II. Claims 55-58, drawn to a method for receiving mutation information, classified in class 702, subclass 19.

III. Claims 59-64, drawn to a method for displaying mutation information, classified in class 702, subclass 19.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different designs, modes of operation, and effects (MPEP § 802.01 and § 806.06). In the instant case, the different inventions are drawn to different stated purposes with different stated outcomes. For instance, Group I is drawn to a method for documenting mutations, whereas the method of Group II is drawn to a method of receiving mutation information that includes steps that are not part of those In Group I.

Inventions I and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different designs, modes of operation, and effects (MPEP § 802.01 and § 806.06). In the instant case, the different inventions are drawn to different stated purposes with different stated outcomes. For instance, Group I is drawn to a method for documenting mutations, whereas the method of Group III is drawn to a method of displaying mutation information that includes steps that are not part of those in Group I.

Inventions II and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different designs, modes of operation, and effects (MPEP § 802.01 and § 806.06). In the instant case, the different inventions are drawn to different stated purposes with different stated outcomes. For instance, Group II is drawn to a method of receiving mutation information, whereas the method of Group III is drawn to a method of displaying mutation information that includes steps that are not part of those in Group II.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Species Election

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:

A. Claims drawn to different types of mutation information, as in claims 2, 35, 56, 57, and 58. Applicant is required to pick one type of mutation information for examination.

B. Claims drawn to different types of discrete elements, as in claims 3-11 and 36. Applicant is required to choose one type of element for examination.

C. Claims drawn to different types of published standards, as in claims 15, 16, 32, 33, 38, 39, 49, and 50. Applicant is required to choose one type of standard for examination.

D. Claims drawn to mutation information, as in claims 26 and 27. Applicant is required to choose one type of information for examination.

E. Claims drawn to data fields, as in claims 60-64. Applicant is required to choose one data filed for examination.

The species are independent or distinct because they represent different elements and require a different search on the art.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claims 1, 12-14, 17-25, 28-31, 34, 37, 40-48, 51-55, and 59 are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.
